COMMUNITY HEALTH MOVES TO DISMISS TENET LAWSUIT

FRANKLIN, Tenn. (April 19, 2011) — Community Health Systems, Inc. (NYSE: CYH) (“CHS”) today filed a motion in the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Texas to dismiss the baseless lawsuit brought against CHS last week by Tenet Healthcare Corporation (NYSE: THC). CHS has taken this step in advance of even being served with Tenet’s lawsuit.

CHS believes the Tenet lawsuit is entirely without merit and contains a number of fatal flaws, including:

- The CHS all-cash offer eliminates any basis for a federal securities lawsuit. Now that the offer is all cash, and the stock component has been eliminated, so has Tenet’s pretext for alleging a securities law violation. For this reason alone, Tenet’s claim must be dismissed.
- Tenet’s lawsuit attacks the ethics and professional judgment of thousands of attending physicians at CHS affiliated hospitals which has no basis and is not material to the proxy contest concerning the election of Tenet’s directors.
- Tenet is not seeking to compel CHS to disclose facts, but instead is attempting to compel CHS to confess some sort of culpability, which has no basis under the securities laws.
- A ruling for CHS will dispose of this case in its entirety.

As previously announced, CHS will respond to the substance of the baseless allegations contained in Tenet’s lawsuit on its first quarter earnings conference call on April 28, 2011.

CHS is offering $6.00 per share in cash to acquire all outstanding Tenet shares. Each of Credit Suisse and Goldman Sachs has informed CHS that, subject to customary terms and conditions, it is highly confident that financing for CHS’s all-cash offer for the outstanding shares of Tenet can be obtained in the capital markets.

Credit Suisse and Goldman, Sachs & Co. are acting as financial advisors, Kirkland & Ellis LLP as legal counsel and D. F. King & Co. as proxy solicitor for CHS.
